

“How to Write and Study” Workshop

“How to Write and Study” is a pre-recorded, at your own pace, workshop with an interactive worksheet packet and a very helpful tool for anyone interested in sharpening their studying and writing skills.

INSTRUCTORS: Phyllis and Jan Goodyear

Phyllis was a professional writer and editor for a number of years and served on staff with ABC-IN/KY more than 25 years before retiring in Dec 2018. She holds a Master of Divinity Degree from Christian Theological Seminary.

Jan taught English for 33 years and has done consulting work with churches. She is currently on staff with the ABC-Greater Indianapolis Region Ministry. She holds a Master of Arts in English from Ball State University.

OVERVIEW:

This workshop guides students through the process of previewing and reading a book for comprehension and understanding, taking notes and locating main points in their reading. It helps students with basic writing skills including constructing, planning and generating ideas for a basic paper along with helping students construct clearer sentences. It will also help students to feel more at ease with the studying and learning process by enhancing their ability to understand the various texts used in their classes as well. It will give them more confidence in approaching and completing the assignments they are given in class and it will help them to interact more fully with class content.
